committee appointed to meet the trustees of the monument fund and consult with them as to the location of and the inscription to be placed on the monument which will shortly be erected in this city.

Col. George B. Caldwell as chairman of this committee reported that they had in obedience to instructions gone to the post-office on the Saturday after their appointment and there met Meeers. Wheat and Laughlin of the trustees of the fund and conferred with them in regard to the matter of location. They had examined the northwest corner of the Capitol pavement, and also the intersection of Fourteenth and Chapline streets, which latter, from its commanding position had met with much favor from the members of the committee, and was regarded by all as the most eligible place in the city, and was preferable to the Capitol site as it was much higher and would show of the monument to better advantage.

He did not apprehend that there would be any trouble to expect from the Elm Grove Railway, nor the City Engineer that a good roadway could be made at one side and the railway could deflect around it with little trouble.
